

Resource

For researchers

NRAS is open to supporting a wide variety of institutions and commercial organisations with their research via various means of recruitment, focus groups, promotion of research and production of surveys.

Print

While we aim to support as much research as possible we must reserve the right to decline a research proposal if we feel it does not contribute to our Mission and Values of the charity. We may also decline due to restrictions on our resources or that the timing of the request clashes with the charity's previous commitments.

If you are conducting research and would like to request support from NRAS, please click below to submit a short online form. Explore how we operate and understand why NRAS is the preferred Research Partner. For detailed information, please view our promotional leaflet.

Submit research details

View leaflet

This article was downloaded from www.nras.org.uk. National Rheumatoid Arthritis Society (NRAS) is a registered charity in England and Wales (1134859) and Scotland (SC039721). A private company limited by guarantee. Registered in England and Wales (7127101).