Digital Group Co-ordinator

Are you looking to give support to those affected by RA or JIA? As NRAS looks to empower more volunteers to help us drive our support for more people living with the conditions throughout the UK, we are committed to developing a network of diverse, volunteer-led digital groups.

Print

These groups will be interest based rather than regionally based and will be online only allowing access to greater numbers of participants, especially those who might be time poor, for example, working parents. Other groups might be based around a shared love of sport and exercise or culture or perhaps diversity and equality. We do not intend to be prescriptive – the formation of the groups will be led by the volunteers who choose to participate.

The digital groups will provide opportunities for:

- Online social interaction
- Access to a safe space where participants can share experiences and celebrate their lives positively
- Educational learning and sharing
- Fundraising
- Campaigning

Why do we need you?

The National Rheumatoid Arthritis Society (NRAS), is the only patient-led organisation in the UK specialising in rheumatoid arthritis (RA) and juvenile idiopathic arthritis (JIA). Due to its targeted focus on RA and JIA, NRAS provides truly expert and wide-ranging services to support, educate and campaign for people living with these complex autoimmune conditions, their families and the health professionals who treat them.

Our volunteers are integral to our service delivery and help by providing support to their peers, taking part in research projects, raising awareness of RA and JIA and their impact, providing administrative back up and much more!

Whatever topic you would like to promote, we would be happy to hear from you.

- you would be able to deliver your volunteer hours at a time that works for you
- the role is home-based

What activities will you be involved in?

- Recruiting members to your group
- Leading and supervising the administering/running of your group (potentially in collaboration with another volunteer willing to support you)

What can you gain from this opportunity?

- making a difference to those people affected by RA or JIA who feel their voice may not be heard in the wider community
- opportunity to engage with other like minded individuals
- opportunity to learn new skills
- ongoing support
- reimbursement of out of pocket expenses as defined in NRAS's volunteer policy

Is there an induction and training?

- you will receive an induction when you start
- we will provide you with the training you need to complete the role

What are we looking for?

Are you confident communicating with people you don't know online and on the phone? Do you live with RA or JIA but want to raise the profile of other interests/passions/issues that play a big part in your life? Then this may be the role for you! We are looking for:

- a friendly, engaging, confident, flexible and non-judgemental approach
- a commitment to raising the profile of your interest/passion in the RA/JIA community
- a drive to engage with others with similar interests/passions/challenges
- ideally able to commit for at least a year initially. This role will involve 2-3 hours volunteering a week
