

Resource

NRAS Live: Pregnancy Guidelines in Inflammatory Rheumatic Disease

Rewatch our NRAS Live from Wednesday 27th October 2023, on the new pregnancy and breastfeeding guidelines for those living with inflammatory rheumatic conditions.

Print

Our NRAS National Patient Champions, Ailsa Bosworth, was joined by Guidelines Author Prof. Ian Giles, patient mum Katy Pieris, Kate Duhig from the University of Manchester who is conducting a clinical trial in pregnancy and Nurse Specialist Louise Moore who was also on the Guidelines working group.

New Pregnancy Guidelines in Inflammatory Rheumatic Disease

with Professor Ian Giles, Researcher Kate
Duhig, Katy Pieris & Louise Moore,
Rheumatology Nurse Specialist

Join our NRAS Live
27th September at 7pm

NRAS Live: Pregnancy Guidelines in Inflammatory Rheumatic Disease

The full NRAS Live taken from 27th September 2023.

Click to close video modal

Close

You may have noticed we lost one of our guest speakers shortly after we begun. Nurse Specialist, Louise Moore – who had some technical issues due to Storm Babet back in October.

Therefore we have filmed this accompanying video to share Louise's findings on the nursing role in the management of women living with rheumatoid arthritis with reproductive needs. Find out what recommendations she gives for those looking to get pregnant while living with inflammatory arthritis conditions, preconception health, post-partum rheumatology care and much, much more.

Pregnancy Guidelines in Inflammatory Rheumatic Disease (Additional Video)

A discussion with Nurse Specialist, Louise Moore

(Additional Video) Pregnancy Guidelines in Inflammatory Rheumatic Disease

An additional video filmed with Nurse Specialist, Louise Moore.

Click to close video modal

Close

Want to watch more?

If you would like to watch more NRAS Live events, please visit our YouTube channel – where you can find all our past streams, as well as plenty more video content all on RA!

This article was downloaded from www.nras.org.uk. National Rheumatoid Arthritis Society (NRAS) is a registered charity in England and Wales (1134859) and Scotland (SC039721). A private company limited by guarantee. Registered in England and Wales (7127101).